

It was no surprise when the world's most powerful supercomputer learned to communicate with humans shortly after arriving at the tiny San Diego college. After all, Ross and his students had prepared well and were ready for anything.

Well, almost anything. They forgot that humans aren't the only intelligent species inhabiting Southern California.

The Delphinus Chronicles

Be careful what you ask... for you may not like the answer

